

Road Projects: $14 million

Ballot question:

Shall Henrico County, Virginia, be authorized to contract a debt and issue its general obligation bonds in the maximum aggregate principal amount of $14,000,000 pursuant to the Public Finance Act of 1991 to finance road projects including the acquisition of land necessary for such projects?

Project:

- ▶ Enhancements to 1.9 miles of Richmond-Henrico Turnpike, with a sidewalk, trail and four-lane divided roadway: $14 million

Will approval of the bond referendum affect taxes?

No. Henrico County does not anticipate a need to raise the current real-estate tax rate of 87 cents. Costs associated with the issuance of bond debt and the operation of new facilities can be supported by current county revenues.

BOND REFERENDUM 2016

As part of the 2016 general election on Tuesday, Nov. 8, Henrico voters will have the opportunity to participate in a $419.8 million general obligation bond referendum for capital projects in the county, such as the construction and renovation of schools, parks and fire stations.

On their ballots, Henrico voters will mark “yes” or “no” for projects in each of five categories: Schools, Recreation and Parks, Libraries, Fire Stations and Facilities, and Roads. Individual categories can be approved or rejected. Approval of a category authorizes Henrico County to contract debt and issue its general obligation bonds to fund the capital projects. Approval will not result in a tax increase.

The following are the exact questions that will appear on ballots, as well as a brief description and cost for each project (note: only the questions will appear on the ballot). More information is available at henrico.us/bonds.
