

From: Chickahominy Pipeline <info@chickahominypipeline.com>

Sent: Sunday, February 13, 2022 3:37:17 PM

To: Tretina, Cari <tre08@henrico.us>; Yob, Steven <yob@henrico.us>; Sheppard, Ben <she16@henrico.us>

Subject: Chickahominy Pipeline - Hitting "Pause"

Good afternoon,

Chickahominy Power, LLC has been notified by its legal team that the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has upheld PJM's decision to remove Chickahominy Power from the permitting queue. PJM has opined that other projects in its queue are nearer to operation-readiness, so it needs to devote attention to those projects in its already-crowded docket.

Although Chickahominy Power may reenter the PJM queue in the future, in light of this regulatory setback as well as the uncertainty remaining with the SCC, Chickahominy Pipeline needs to press "pause" on its pipeline efforts until its sole end-user, Chickahominy Power, is in a position to move forward. The planned Open House for February 21, 2022 is cancelled.

As such, Chickahominy Pipeline will be suspending its project at this time, while Chickahominy Power evaluates its next steps. Chickahominy Pipeline extends our sincere appreciation and gratitude to those entities and individuals who were critical thinkers and either early supporters or lately-supporters for this much-needed and critical infrastructure project. We also appreciate those governmental officials who gave the project an open mind and fair shot, and hope that, if Chickahominy Power resumes its place in the PJM queue, that you will again support the Chickahominy Pipeline effort to fuel it.

Thank you,

Beth

Beth Minear, Project Outreach

--

Chickahominy Pipeline, LLC

info@chickahominypipeline.com