The Henrico County Department of Social Services will examine the financial, social and emotional effects that fathers have on the lives of their children at the second annual Henrico Fatherhood Conference, set for March 12-13 at the Holiday Inn-Airport, 5203 Williamsburg Road. "The Many Faces of Fatherhood" is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, March 12, and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 13. The conference will feature speakers and workshops on a variety of topics, including developing a fatherhood program; being a stepfather; and understanding child support enforcement.

A father's importance to the well-being of his family shouldn't be underestimated, said Social Services Director Gordon Ragland. "We see a significant impact on children when their fathers aren't actively involved in their lives," he said. "This conference is designed to highlight the essential role fathers play and to raise community awareness about the need to reach them."

The March 12 session is designed specifically for social service professionals, faith-based groups, community organizations and other agencies that operate a fatherhood program or plan to begin one; registration is $15. The March 13 session is designed for the general public and will focus on a father's relationship with his children; registration is $10. The registration fee includes breakfast, lunch and conference materials for that day.

Participants can register by calling 501-4132; registration is encouraged by Sunday, Feb. 29. For more information, log on to www.co.henrico.va.us/dss and follow the "Fatherhood Initiative" link.

The Virginia Association of Counties (VACo) has appointed eight Henrico County officials to the association's steering and operational committees for 2004. Members of Henrico's Board of Supervisors received the following appointments: Chairman and Tuckahoe District Supervisor Patricia S. O' Bannon, Telecommunications and Utilities steering committee and the Nominating committee; Vice Chairman and Fairfield District Supervisor Frank J. Thornton, Education steering committee; Brookland District Supervisor Richard W. Glover, Community Development and Planning steering committee; Three Chopt District Supervisor David A. Kaechele, Finance steering committee; and Varina District Supervisor James B. Donati, Jr., Administration of Government steering committee. Other county officials were also tapped for service: Deputy County Manager George T. Drumwright, Jr., Health and Human Services steering committee; Deputy County Manager Harvey L. Hinson, Environment and Agriculture steering committee; and Deputy County Manager Robert K. Pinkerton, Transportation steering committee. VACo steering committees review legislative requests from counties throughout Virginia, recommend an annual legislative program and provide policy direction for VACo staff. The association represents local governments at the state and national levels and provides a resource network for planning and implementing new ideas and technologies.

CONTACT: Michael L. Wade, Sheriff

PHONE: 501-4571

Antionette V. Irving made history recently when she became the first woman to attain the rank of major in the Henrico County Sheriff's Office. She received the promotion during a ceremony on Jan. 29. According to Sheriff Michael L. Wade, Irving is extremely well respected by her peers and by the staff who work for her. "Major Irving is full of energy and really has her finger on the pulse of our office," Wade said. Irving joined the Sheriff's Office in 1988 as a deputy and steadily moved up the ranks, serving most recently as captain of operations and security at Jail West. As the new major for administration, her responsibilities include courts and civil process; finance, contracts and human resources; and training, standards and accreditation. Irving earned a bachelor's degree from Shaw University and a master's degree from Central Michigan University. She is active in her community as a volunteer for Boys & Girls Clubs of Richmond, Stamp Out Substance Abuse and other organizations. The recipient of the Richmond YWCA Outstanding Woman of the Year for Government and Politics award in 2003, she is also a member of the Shaw University Athletic Hall of Fame, the National Association of Sports Officials and the Outstanding Young Women of America nominations committee.

Irving said she looks forward to the challenges of her new position and feels a "great sense of pride" for being the first woman to reach this level. "Being first, you have to do it right," she said. "But it's not a burden. It's a great honor. I just plan to put my best foot forward and try to give 100 percent all of the time."

CONTACT: Dave Ambrogio, Blood Drive Coordinator

PHONE: 501-5375

Henrico County will host special bone marrow drives in conjunction with upcoming blood drives on Thursday, Feb. 5 and Monday, Feb. 9. Both efforts are open to the public.

Sponsored jointly by the Henrico County Blood Program, Virginia Blood Services and the National Marrow Donor Program, the drives will take place at the following times and locations:

◆ Thursday, Feb. 5, noon-4:30 p.m.; Government Center Administration Building/Board Room lobby, 4301 E. Parham Road;

◆ Monday, Feb. 9, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.; Human Services Building second floor, 8600 Dixon Powers Drive.

Participants interested in donating bone marrow will be screened, tested and entered onto the National Bone Marrow Registry. If they match someone on the registry, they will undergo additional screening tests and will be scheduled for donation at a later date. The county has secured funds to help reduce or eliminate the $65 bone marrow testing fee, although participants are welcome to help defray the costs by making a donation to the National Marrow Donor Program.

For additional information about the upcoming drives, call 501-5375. For more information about bone marrow testing, contact Becky Simulcik at 501-4783 or JoAnn Malone of the National Marrow Donor Program at 213-4162.
