The recent dry weather pattern has caused low water levels in the James River. In response to these low water levels, the Henrico County Department of Public Utilities--along with the City of Richmond and Chesterfield, Hanover and Goochland counties--is requesting customers to implement voluntary water conservation measures beginning Friday, Sept. 30.

Voluntary compliance will assist Henrico and Richmond in providing water to all customers in the region while also meeting the requirements of the James River Regional Flow Management Plan. If significant rainfall occurs alleviating the current conditions, we will cease voluntary water conservation measures. However, if the current dry weather pattern persists, mandatory water conservation measures may be required.

CONTACT: Lloyd Hicks, Extension Agent, 4-H Youth Programs

PHONE: 501-5160

The Henrico County Extension Office has launched its annual 4-H apple, peanut and honey sale. Proceeds benefit local 4-H youth programs.

The sale features Virginia-grown produce:

- ◆ Winesap and York apples, $12 per half bushel;
- ◆ Raw peanuts, with recipes, $6 per two-pound sack;
- ◆ Deluxe cocktail peanuts, salted and unsalted, $9 per two-pound sack; and
- ◆ Honey, $4 per one-pound jar.

Order forms are available at the Extension Office, located in the Human Services Building, 8600 Dixon Powers Drive; at any Henrico County library; or by calling 501-5160 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Because supplies are limited, orders placed after Monday, Oct. 10 will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Staff will distribute orders from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 25 and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 26 at the Human Services Building.

The Henrico County Community Emergency Response Team (HCCERT) will offer its basic training academy—an eight-week program teaching disaster-preparedness skills—beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20 at the Henrico Training Center, 7701 E. Parham Road.

Participants in the weekly class will receive training in severe-weather preparedness, fire suppression, first-aid, disaster psychology, search and rescue, incident command and other emergency-response measures.

The HCCERT basic training academy is free and open to the public on a first-come, first-served basis, with a maximum of 20 participants. The academy will meet 7-9 p.m. each Thursday from Oct. 20-Dec. 15; it also will hold Saturday drill exercises on Nov. 19 and Dec. 17.

To register, call 337-1528 or e-mail henricocert@comcast.net by Thursday, Oct. 13.

Comprised of community volunteers, HCCERT provides immediate assistance in a neighborhood or workplace following a county emergency or major disaster, when local public safety resources may be overwhelmed. For more information, log on to www.henricocert.org.

The National Association of Black County Officials (NABCo) has appointed Henrico County Board Chairman and Fairfield District Supervisor Frank J. Thornton to serve on two of its committees for 2005-06.

Thornton will serve as vice chairman of NABCo's Historical Committee and also was named to a seat on the association's Membership Committee.

NABCo is a national organization representing elected and professional officials who operate in a major policy role within county government. Formed in 1975, the association provides an organizational structure for African-American county officials to review, share and develop responses to local and national issues. It also promotes the sharing and use of resources and methods to improve government operations.

Thornton currently is serving his second term as Henrico's board chairman, a position he previously held in 2000. He has represented the Fairfield District since 1995, when he became the first African-American elected to the board. A member of numerous local, state and national boards and commissions, Thornton is a graduate of Leadership Metro Richmond and is a co-founder and past president of the Henrico County Civic League. The Richmond native works as an assistant professor of French at Virginia Union University, where he has received the university's "Teacher of the Year" award.

Recognizing an opportunity to contribute to hurricane recovery efforts, Henrico County is launching an employee fund-raising campaign to benefit the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

"Henrico County officials and staff have been deeply moved by the plight of our fellow citizens along the Gulf Coast who have been devastated by this tragic event," said County Manager Virgil R. Hazelett, P.E. "The county is committed to do its part and help our friends in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and other affected areas as they rebuild their lives and their communities."

Henrico has created a special hurricane relief committee to coordinate the countywide fund-raising campaign. Director of Social Services Gordon Ragland and Director of Public Utilities Art Petri will serve as co-chairs of the committee, which will collect cash donations from the county's approximately 4,000 general government employees through Sept. 23.

Funds raised by the county campaign will be distributed to the Greater Richmond Chapter of the American Red Cross. Henrico County Public Schools is coordinating a similar relief effort for hurricane victims.

"At this early stage, the American Red Cross and other disaster-relief agencies are advising that cash donations are the fastest, surest way to support recovery efforts," Hazelett said. "We're encouraging Henrico employees to give whatever they can; every gift will help victims of Hurricane Katrina. The recovery process will require the concerted, determined efforts of governments, private businesses and individuals alike."
